

Menu

Project Wiki Pages

Home (/r23my/wiki/home/)

Author: Larragem Raines

Background: The aim was to develop a flexible open-source simulation model that can be used to estimate the value of alternative sequential treatment strategies for patients with metastatic non-small cell lung cancer (NSCLC). The IVI-NSCLC(egfr+) model is accessible to both technical and non-technical end users, allowing them evaluating the impact of uncertainty in clinical evidence, alternative model structures, and model parameters on the results.

